Dear Dropbox,

I was incredibly happy to see your job posting on LinkedIn as I have been looking for some way to build up experience in the software/tech industry for a while now. I have been Attending UFV for around three years now beginning in the 2019 winter semester. I was originally studying under the Bachelor of Arts program and majoring in psychology but have recently switched over to the Bachelor of Science and intend to declare my major in Computer Science. As part of my education, I have been spending my personal time on online lectures (from other institutions) and have experience in python, java, app/web development, and database management. I am a dedicated student who is always aiming for an A- or more in my recent classes and is willing to put in the effort to do so.

I believe that we should always be willing to put in the effort for anything we do, whether it is our hobbies or professional lives. Hence, I would be willing to bring all my effort towards this position, including any additional training necessary for the position. I am confident that my skills will prove an asset towards the business and that I will be able to engage with co-workers in a helpful and meaningful manner.

I look forward to discussing the position and my skills with you in more detail. I am available to talk with you at your convenience. Thank you so much for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Joaquin Gabriel Cisneros
